

Growing your investment in forestry

As an alternative to high risk investments forestry provides a more sustainable approach to investing, offering a relatively low risk in this volatile market.

Where: Scott-Moncrieff, Exchange Place 3, Sempie Street, Edinburgh, EH3 8BL

When: Tuesday 6th December, 5.00pm for at 5.30pm start. This event finishes at 7pm.

RSVP: To book your place please email sarah.kong@scott-moncrieff.com or phone her on 0131 473 3500. Please reply by Wednesday 30th Nov.

Scott-Moncrieff is hosting a seminar with John Clegg & Co. and Aitchesse Ltd on forestry and we would be delighted if you can join us. At this evening seminar we will explore the benefits of investing in forestry, the different options for investment and how you can do this. If you are interested in forestry, or already hold investments in woodland, rural estates or land, this seminar will offer advice to help you make the most of your investments.

2011 has been named the International Year of Forestry by the United Nations to raise awareness of the role of forests and sustainable forest management in building a greener, more equitable and sustainable future. Therefore now is an excellent time to learn about the investment opportunities in this area and the risks associated with this growing market.

Following the talks from our speakers you will have the opportunity to network with your industry peers and enjoy drinks and canapés.

Speakers: All professional advisers with experience in forestry and estates providing guidance on tax, investment and property and global strategy for woodland management.

Morag Page

Morag is a Personal Tax Director at Scott-Moncrieff with experience advising high net worth individuals on investments in the area of land and estates. She acts for a large number of landed estates, trusts and family enterprises, most of which involve constructive tax planning. Morag heads our Renewables, Land and Environment group who she leads in keeping abreast of developments, enabling them to provide accurate advice for clients.

Fenning Welstead

Fenning is a Partner of John Clegg & Co LLP, a fellow of the Institute of Chartered Foresters and is their current President. He provides independent advice on all aspects of woodland ownership, marketing and management throughout the UK with occasional forays into Europe. Valuation and investment analysis of forest property forms an important part of his activities.

Steele Haughton

Steele Haughton is a Forest Economist at Aitchesse Ltd (forest asset managers). Steele has a BSc in Forestry and worked as a felling contractor and forest manager for Tilhill Forestry before joining Bidwells, Property Consultants in 1985. He set up Cambridge Forest Economics in 1997 which merged with Aitchesse in 2005. Steele is responsible for modelling, investment appraisals and timber assessment and forecasting at Aitchesse.
